An outdoor patio area featuring several round tables with brown wicker chairs. A large blue patio umbrella is the central focus, with a silver heater visible in the background. The patio is situated on a tiled floor next to a building with large glass windows. The scene is brightly lit, suggesting a sunny day.

The golden tube heaters are designed to further optimize the efficiency of the heating elements. The unique gold reflector is a critical feature of the golden tube heaters. It allows direct, targeted heating of the object. The gold coating on the infrared heater reflects the infrared radiation. Consequently the infrared radiation impinging on the product is virtually doubled.
